To whom it may concern:

PTM Equipment Inc. is the sole manufacturer of PTM products worldwide. All products manufactured by us are based on unique designs that have been internationally patented, have patents pending, or are protected by intellectual property rights. These designs are based on our research into the bona-fide occupational requirements of law enforcement officers, and the research is copyrighted to us. As an example, the Physical Control Simulator was specifically designed to measure the muscular strength and stamina required to control pulling and pushing forces that are similar (at a muscular level) to those required in an arrest and control environment.

There are no other manufacturers anywhere in the world for our products, and anyone copying them will be subject to litigation.

Sincerely yours,
